

By the Committee. The late Governor Noble—He is dead, but his memory liveth. South Carolina never lost a son, who, to purity of motive, united a warmer zeal in the discharge of many and arduous public duties.

[To which the dead march was played, by a good band of music.]

VOLUNTEER TOASTS.

By Capt. J. J. Sentel, President. The President of the United States—For his open and manly course on Abolition and the Sub-Treasury, he richly merits the support of every Southern man.

By John S. Smyly, Vice-President. The Orator of the Day—The sentiments he expressed, are the sentiments of the people; and we trust that the sentiments of the people are for him.

By Col. J. P. Carroll, Orator of the Day. The Sub-Treasury cause—The cause of liberty and the constitution.

By Lieut. J. R. Werer, one of the Committee. Modern Whiggery and Democracy—The contrast between them is as strongly marked as between truth and falsehood.

By Benj. Stevens, Esq., one of the Committee. Messrs. Wright, Gwynne, and Spencer, Vice Presidents appointed by Gen. Harrison—If they are Lawyers, let them go to the bar; if they are Merchants, let them go to their merchandise; and if they are Farmers, let them go to the plough; and let the old Federalist with his black cockade, aright and act for himself.

By Major B. F. Nicholson, one of the Committee. The suspended Banks: The organized swindlers of the honest man's industry—They have been fattened upon the toils of the husbandman. It is high time that these legalized droues should be exterminated from the land.

By David Strother, one of the Committee. Our past Legislation: It has been the legislation of the Banks and Rail Road Companies—They compel the honest producer and working man to pay his tax in specie, or bills on specie paying banks, whilst they have a subservient Legislature to legalize their frauds and speculations; let the motto of every freeman be, down with the banks and chartered companies.

By Capt. James Dorn, one of the Committee. The United States—Once governed by British tyrants, but now by a free and happy people, may they ever flourish, as they ever have since the days of the Revolution.

By John S. Adams, one of the Committee. The Abolitionists of the North: A corrupt crew, contending about matters that do not concern them—They had better cease their confusion and be at peace, before they arouse the sons of the South.

By Goody McManus, one of the Committee. Our Presidential Election—Although Van Buren is cursed and belittled by the abolitionists, if they don't mind, in spite of Hard Cider, Corn Bread, and Log Cabins, we will elect him President.

By Joseph Adams, Esq., one of the Committee. The Banks—In refusing to redeem their notes in specie, are not regulated by law, but are giving law to the people. Let an indignant Legislature claim a forfeiture of their charters.

By John Adams, one of the Committee. Southern institutions—Endangered by the vile machinations of Northern fanatics and Southern hypocrites; the virtuous yeomanry of the South, know how to redress their wrongs.

By H. C. Turner, one of the Committee. The Banking System—Instead of its being a blessing to the people, it has proved a curse, and can be very truly called a swindling machine; and we hope at the setting of our next Legislature, the members will study the people's interest.

By Simon Matheues, one of the Committee. The suspending Banks—They have proved dishonest: It is the duty of the Legislature to make them honest.

By Dr. R. C. Griffin. The Union and Nullification Party—They were united in 1837, and we embrace the present opportunity of celebrating their union.

By Elbert Dore. The Constitution of the United States: The sacred compact of our Union—Let prompt and efficient chastisement follow its violation.

By W. S. Cottrill. The Currency—Its present wretched condition shows to us the fallacy of its existing system, and calls aloud for the interference of a free people.

By James Tompkins, Esq. The non-specie paying banks—Their issues, no longer a proper medium of exchange, but a fit representation of corruption and fraud.

By T. J. Hibler, Esq. The Compromise Act—Was hailed as a compromise between the two parties in South Carolina, and there is no good reason why the contest for Governor should rekindle those feelings.

By Dr. J. O. Nicholson. The Farmer—His industry furnishes the true wealth of the country. All that he requires is a free trade and good currency.

By T. B. Harey. Wm. H. Harrison—May his termination be with his log cabin and Cider Barrels on a locomotive engine, running down a decline nearly perpendicular, and at the end sink into eternal oblivion, leaving his log cabin and Cider Barrels as a memorial of the old Federalist.

By S. W. Nicholson. The Legislature of South Carolina—It is corrupted by being leagued with the banks, and in taking from the people, their legal and constitutional currency, has given them a depreciated and an irredeemable paper.

By A. C. Dean. May freedom, peace, and prosperity dwell with the sons and daughters of America.

By Samuel M. Chappell. Abolitionists—Under the pretence of friends, bear the fangs of vipers to poison the liberties of the South.

By Capt. E. Lagroom. South Carolina—May she still retain those principles, which have so highly distinguished her; and may she act wisely, and not support a Northern fanatic who attempts to disguise his principles.

By Aaron Hill, Esq. In all ages when man covered knowledge, a curse ensued; therefore, let our astronomers tell us the position in which the planets stood when the freshet came, that we may be better prepared when such a time rolls round again.

By Solomon Dorn. May independence, the sacred inheritance of valor and patriotism ever be preserved inviolate from the galling chains of tyranny and despotism.

By James Hill. The sons of America—May they preserve those liberties which were so dearly bought for them by the blood of their ancestors.

By J. G. Sheppard. Federalism—Whigism and abolitionism, combined seem likely to get the ascendancy over republicanism.

By George Pope, Esq. The Meeting Street Company—They will not disappoint the expectation of their country in the hour of danger.

By John M. Cogburn. Mr. Van Buren—A Northern man with Southern principles; he is clear of vision, sound of judgment, and in purity of patriotism, better fitted to adorn the high office to which he is nominated than his opponent; may he sustain his rights, and triumph over Northern abolitionists.

By Maj. John C. Allen. Mr. Van Buren—Not our first choice, but certainly preferable to the nominee of the Whig convention; his early and decided expression of opinions favorable to Southern institutions in his various messages, entitles him to our cordial support.

By W. H. Atkinson. Gen. W. H. Harrison—The candidate of the banks, and incorporated wealth of the abolitionists, and tariffites; let every friend of liberty be aroused to put down this miserable abortion of the noxious aristocracy.

By Lieut. J. C. Smyley. The Hard Cider and Log Cabin candidate is unfit to be the ruler of republicans, and Chief Magistrate of as proud and distinguished a nation as America.

By James Vaughn. The Hon. F. W. Pickens—Our present representative in Congress; may he forever sustain the character he now does.

By John S. Neal. The abolitionists of the North, with their few and scattering associates in the South—May their fiendish plans and schemes come to a speedy and final termination, by means of leaving the old Cider Barrel in the "log cabin" at North Bend, from thence never to be removed.

By Geo. Outts. John P. Richardson, the Democratic candidate for Governor—His principles recommend him to us, and the many efforts made to endanger his election, will only make his success doubly sure.

By Capt. W. F. Deloach. The Fee Act of 1839—The sweepstake course, raised by jockeys trained on the turf of injustice, at the expense of the people: At the October poll we will have a new club; we will vote for measures, not for men.

By H. M. Adams. Hon. J. E. Holmes. For his motion to expel the pagilists from the Congressional Hall, he deserves his name to be engraven on the tablet of fame, in letters of gold.

By William Dean. The late Governor Noble—May his services as a public citizen be long remembered, and may his successor possess those principles which so highly distinguished him.

By Jesse Rasco. The Farmers: The bone and sinew of the Republic—They are the advocates of an Independent Treasury, contending that it is due to the people as a safeguard against unequal taxation.

By Jefferson Bledsoe. May we consider among our best Generals in past life, the Farmer and George Washington—The farmer is considered the bone and sinew of his country; and Washington proved to his country an honor, which equals the same! May his country not prove unworthy of him.

By James Neal. South Carolina: One of the most patriotic States in the Union—May the spirit of '76 continue to animate her citizens to protect and defend their liberties, all time itself shall be no more!

Health of the City—We have perhaps never had more just cause at this season of the year, to be grateful for the blessing of general health than at present.

For the week ending the 4th of July there was not a solitary death of a white person from disease; for the week ending the 11th the death of 7 whites only—of whom but two died of a complaint that belongs to the season, to wit: inflammation of brain. On the strictest inquiry we learn that there is no reason to apprehend any unfavorable change in the public health. There is no case of yellow fever in the city and no apprehensions of its invading us. This statement may be relied on to the utmost extent, there is in fact no prevailing complaint whatever in Charleston, except the scarcity of money.—Charleston Mercury.

The Charleston Courier of the 17th inst. says:—Inquiries having been addressed to us from several quarters relative to the health of the City, we are happy to state that it continues unimpaired, and that the prospect for the summer is a cheering one.

The Season—We have had most serious rains lately in our neighborhood. In the low grounds the crops are suffering, and the cotton looks badly. If a continuance of rains occur our crop will be short. Cotton needs hot suns and steady weather to bring it out. The late corn looks well, but we understand the bud-worm is making sad havoc in some fields, particularly in low grounds.—Carolina Planter.

Rail Road Scrip—We are requested to give notice that the Commercial Bank of Columbia and the Branch of the Bank of the State and the Agency of the South-Western Rail Road Bank, will receive and pay out the change bills of the L. C. & C. R. Road Company, under $5.-16.

The Charleston Mercury of the 17, inst., says:—The Hon. Henry Deas has been appointed Collector, and Dr. Joseph Johnson Receiver General for this City.

Stephen Allen is appointed Receiver General for New-York, and Isaac Hill for Boston.

A new Post Office has been established in Abbeville Dist., named Diamond Spring, and Robert Keown, Esq. appointed Post Master.

Wm. S. Simson, Esq., has been appointed Post Master at Russell Place, Kershaw District, & Sterling G. Twitty, at Dry Creek, Lancaster District.

EDGEFIELD C. H.

THURSDAY, JULY 23, 1840.

To Correspondents.—We must again request Correspondents, to hand in their communications as early as possible. Hereafter, we will insert no communication which is offered, after 12 o'clock on Monday. Our paper is put to press on Wednesday, and it is absolutely necessary, that articles intended for immediate publication, should be handed to us early on Monday, or before.

We promised in our last paper, to notice a communication of the signature of "Cosmopolite." We now regret that we published this article, and should not have done so, had we adverted, which we were prevented from doing, to the very ill-tempered and offensive expressions contained in it. We shall be more cautious for the future.

We have received from the Hon. R. M. T. Hunter, Speaker of the House of Representatives, several copies of his letter to his constituents in Virginia. We will publish the letter in our next.

We have received from the Hon. F. W. Pickens, a copy of the speech of Mr. Calhoun, on the "Bankrupt bill."

We are requested by Major Tillman Watson of this District, to state that he is no longer a candidate for the Legislature at the ensuing election. He permitted his name to go before the people on Sale-day last, as he states, but now withdraws it. His brother, Michael Watson, Esq. whom we announced some time since, is still a candidate.

We have received several numbers of the "Indiana Farmer," a paper devoted to Agriculture, manufactures, and education, and published at Indianapolis, by J. S. Willets. Subscriptions received at this office.

The Fourth of July was celebrated at Meeting Street, in this District, by a public dinner, at which a large company assembled. The Declaration of Independence was read by Mr. John R. Wever, and an eloquent oration delivered by Col. James P. Carroll. A number of Regular and Volunteer toasts were offered. The general sentiment of the meeting was in favor of the present Administration.

We publish this week a biographic sketch of General Harrison, which we have copied from a Whig paper. In our next, we will publish a brief Democratic account of his civil life.

Augusta Mirror.—The editor announces to the public, that he has obtained the assistance of the Rev. A. B. Longstreet, President of Emory College, who will be associated with him in the editorial conduct of the Mirror, on the commencement of the third volume.

We publish to-day, an account of the proceedings of the great meeting of citizens which took place at Abbeville C. H. on the fourth of July. All the candidates for the Legislature, declared themselves in favor of the present Administration. Among those who addressed the meeting, we perceive the name of General McDuffie. This gentleman expressed himself decidedly in favor of Martin Van Buren, for the Presidency of the United States. We desire no better proof of the ability and integrity, with which our present Chief Magistrate has discharged the duties of his elevated station, than the support which is yielded him, by so inflexible a patriot, as General McDuffie.

In a conversation with some highly respectable country gentlemen, they expressed a wish that the candidates in this District, for the Legislature should be called on to express their opinions on the subject of the Presidential election. We presume that all the candidates belong to the Democratic party, and decidedly prefer Martin Van Buren to Gen. Harrison; but of this we wish to be assured from some public declaration on their part, and we therefore unite in the wish expressed by the country gentlemen mentioned above. We propose that a public meeting of citizens of the District, be held at this place, at as early a day as possible, and that the several candidates for the Legislature, declare before such meeting, their political sentiments. If a public meeting should not be deemed advisable, we then recommend that a letter, signed by a number of respectable citizens, requiring the political views of the several candidates, be addressed to them, and that they be requested to reply, through the medium of the papers of the District.

Death of the Hon. James R. Pringle.—With deep regret we record the sudden death of the Hon. James R. Pringle, Collector of the Port of Charleston. He was attacked by Apoplexy, on the night of Friday, the 13th inst., and died about midday on Saturday last. The flags of the shipping in our harbor were yesterday at half mast, and the funeral took place last evening.

Mr. Pringle's death is a loss to the Government, to the City and State. He had discharged the duties of the Collectorship for about twenty years, with eminent integrity, punctuality and correctness. He has also filled with usefulness and dignity the stations of Mayor of our City, and President of the State Senate; and has always maintained a spotless character as a gentleman and a man, in private and in public. Frank, magnanimous and chivalrous, there was no man in Charleston who could be pointed to in preference as the model of a Carolina gentleman of the old school. The coincidence is remarkable, that the day before his death he had forwarded his resignation, and that by the mail of the day after, we learned his appointment as Receiver of public monies under the Independent Treasury Bill.—Charleston Mercury.

Extract of a letter to the Editor of the Carolinian, dated,

COUNTSVILLE, July 3, 1840.

A severe thunder storm passed over this vicinity on Sunday evening the 25th June, and Six Horses were killed by lightning, on the plantation of Mr. Henry Wirts, sen. of Newberry District—the greatest number I ever heard of being killed at one time."

A new Post Office called Barrowdale, has recently been established in Fairfield District, and the Rev. M. Peden appointed Post Master.

The Bankrupt Bill has been laid on the table by the House of Representative.—The vote was on the motion to lay on the table, yeas 101; nays 89. The subject is therefore disposed of for this session.

The Charleston Courier of the 16th inst. says:—By the schr. Empire, Capt. Southwick, we received the St. Augustine News of the 10th inst., from which we copy the following paragraphs:

St. Augustine, July 10. We regret to learn that Maj. C. Taylor, of San Pablo, was accidentally injured at his Steam Saw Mill, a few days since, by the falling of a plank. His recovery is considered doubtful.

Fifty canoes, built of cypress, and 20 feet long, were to be shipped from Savannah to Cape Roman, Florida. They are intended for the examining force under Lieut. McLaughlin, U. S. Navy, which is to proceed through the Pai-hai-okee or Grass-Water, in the Southern point of this Peninsula.

HAMBURG, July 18.

Our last report of the Cotton Market closed with an improvement in price.—Since then, the article has advanced about 1-4 cent for a choice lot; and there is a steady demand for all descriptions. We quote as extremes 6 to 10 cts. The last however will require a very choice brand to sustain it.

We have had, this week, a considerable quantity to arrive, considering the very dull time which we generally have at this time of the year.

We have no alteration to notice in the articles of Groceries, &c, in which we deal, and therefore refer our readers to quotations.
